

FBIM Transactions
Year X, Vol. 10, Issue 1
DOI: 10.12709/fbim.10.10.01.00

Editorial on FBIM Transactions 2022-1

Prof. Dr. Dr. h. c. Zoran Čekerevac¹
(1) Faculty of Business and Law, "MB" University, Teodora Dražera 27, 11040 Belgrade, Serbia
✉ zoran@cekerevac.eu

Belgrade
04/15/2022

(Without abstract)

Welcome to the April issue of FBIM Transactions, an international academic journal in the field of social sciences (economics and law) jointly published by MESTE and copublishers the Faculty of Business and Law of the "MB" University in Belgrade, and the SZ & Associates, Toronto, Canada. We publish FBIM Transactions online as well as in print (primarily for libraries and subscribers).

We publish this issue of the journal at the time of the war in Ukraine and the coronavirus pandemic ending. In the last FBIM Transactions issue, we expressed hope that things will return to normal soon but we cannot be so optimistic now. The situation in Europe (and the world) is getting worse every day, and the end of the crisis is very uncertain.

Even the Internet, which operated extraordinarily in the past years, now works with limitations of technical and political nature. Social networks are exposed to censorship, which breaks the connections between people. Restrictions in sports competitions and sports events are emerging again. Even cooperation between scientists is endangered, and often interrupted for, above all, political reasons. The world has already entered the energy crisis, and many announce hunger in areas that have not felt it for a long time. The world economy is moving from previously praised globalization to new forms that will be drastically different from globalization. The words "sanctions" and "freezing" have taken root in the vocabulary of politicians. All in all, it is the ideal time for the development of war technology and not at all a good time for the development of a peacetime society.

The only thing that seems comforting is that many scientific conferences are planned. The handicaps are that organizers plan most of them to be online but with language barriers set.

We invite you to pay attention to the website <https://www.meste.org/M2022/M2022e.html> where we will publish data about our forthcoming International Scientific Multiconference: MANAGEMENT - Law - ZITEH 2022.

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Zoran Čekerevac".
Prof. Dr. Zoran Čekerevac
Editor-in-Chief

